

Hi,

Welcome to the Bike Pure update. March was another busy month for Bike Pure as our campaign grows. We are receiving good feedback from many teams, riders and the cycling industry as a whole. Bike Pure is now seen as one of the largest independent anti-doping organizations in the world, mostly thanks to your support.

We are pleased to announce the arrival of two of Australia's hottest young talents in cycling – Travis and Cameron Meyer. Both rode the recent World Track Championships in Poland. Cameron took gold in the points race and both guys are very supportive of our aims and objectives for a cleaner sport. GB rider Lizzie Armitstead also showed the promise she has displayed in recent World Cup events with a gold medal in the scratch race.

The Konica-Minolta team in South Africa also continue to be fully supportive of our campaign and proudly display our logo on their jerseys in support.

Ben Jacques-Maynes from the Bissell Pro Cycling Team has also requested he be added to Bike Pure's anti-doping campaign.

You can now get live updates about Bike Pure news as and when it happens via our Twitter page. You will get updates delivered via SMS text message directly to your mobile device if you chose to 'follow' Bike Pure. Please go to <http://www.twitter.com/bikepure>

Please spread the word about Bike-Pure among the cycling community, local clubs, teams and Internet forums. Your voice counts in restoring the integrity of Professional cycling worldwide and we welcome your comments, both good and bad!

Please visit our news (http://www.bike-pure.com/news_april_09.html) pages where we try to add news and comments each day. Please support the Bike Pure riders and teams by emailing them and congratulating them on their involvement and support with cleaner cycling.

We are working hard for a cleaner and improved image of cycle sport and your involvement gives us a stronger voice.

The Bike Pure wristband and headset spacer are the sign of a clean true performance. Due to production and postage costs these are only available with every donation made via our website. Donations go towards postage costs, promotional material, website costs and enable us to continue as a strong anti-doping voice.

Many thanks for your involvement we can't thank you enough.
We are in discussions with jersey manufacturers in the hope that we can get a Bike Pure jersey out soon. We are desperate to produce one but due to the costs involved it has not been able. We'll keep you posted on that...

Please visit www.bikepure.org for latest news and signings.

Thank you for your continued support...spread the word in the fight against doping in our wonderful sport. The Bike Pure anti-doping campaign has no backdoors or hidden agenda. Just lovers of the sport trying to improve the image of the sport. Giving the 'clean' riders a voice that the cheats, up to now, have drowned out. Everyone involved in Bike Pure has an independent income and loves cycling and the methods proposed will hopefully re-install the trust in the peloton.
